Afreen and Sariya

Afreen and Sariya were enrolled in school after much effort from Parinaam, but were immediately removed after their parents had a minor quarrel. Determined that the children should not experience the fallout of the dispute, Parinaam counselled and mentored both parents – helping them understand that education was the only way forward for their children. Parinaam’s intervention saw the children return to school through the Academic Adoption Program. Now, understanding the value of education, they want to be teachers when they grow up.

Kajal

Last year, an aspiring student wrote to the Board of Ujjivan requesting a scholarship to pursue her higher education. Parinaam’s enquiries revealed that the girl’s father had passed away, her mother remarried and Kajal was shunned by her step-father. Kajal’s maternal relatives took on the responsibility of caring for her but were unable to fund her dreams of pursuing higher education.

Of the two maternal uncles, one was handicapped and dependent on his brother for financial support. And there were three others dependents in his care! Kajal heard from her tuition teacher that Parinaam and Ujjivan supported children’s education and wrote the Board a beautiful letter requesting aid. It was a rare case of a child so determined to seek education, that she approached those she believed best-suited to help her. And it is for Kajal, and the many others like her, that we aim to take AAP to greater heights.
