Dhruva, a 5-year old boy, was diagnosed with a hole in the heart. His mother is a tailor; his father, a taxi driver. Together, they earn Rs. 10,000 a month and simply could not afford the Rs. 2 lakh surgery their son desperately needed. But Dhruva's mother was enrolled in Parinaam's Diksha program. She told the trainer of her son's condition. And Parinaam's head office swiftly intervened, referring Dhruva's family to Right to Live - India's first crowd donation platform. With Right to Live's assistance, Dhruva's surgery was conducted free of cost! His parents can scarcely believe that, despite their financial constraints, they can look forward to their son living a long, healthy, happy life!
